

Wet Landscape & About Light

Marius Sabo's images are very much about the quality of light and the way it can make or break your images. 'Wet Landscape' was taken before sunset and Marius was amazed by the beautiful light and foggy atmosphere, "The mountains and the wood amplified this mythical scene." Despite the rain, he set his camera on a tripod and took the shot!

'About Light' demonstrates how a fairly standard shot can be dramatically affected by light. "The fog, the sun's rays, the wood and the angle of light - everything is in the right place and directed by the sun."
